Welcome Message

Dear Colleagues,

The 15th Annual European Congress of Rheumatology EULAR 2014 will take place on 11-14 June 2014 in Paris. EULAR started organising annual congresses in 2000 in Nice, France. They have now become major events in the calendar of world rheumatology, and the number of participants has increased from about 6'400 (Nice) to 16'000 in London 2011. The Congress 2014 in Paris will again provide a unique occasion for the exchange of most recent scientific and clinical information. It will also facilitate interactions between scientists, medical doctors, health professionals, patients and professionals representing the pharmaceutical industry both within Europe and from around the world, considering participation from around 120 countries.

Substantial growth can also be claimed for both the number and quality of submitted abstracts. On one hand, this reflects the increased interest in arthritis and the related musculoskeletal diseases which we can also observe in our member countries. It is also the expression of an increased availability of information on the size and burden of these diseases and a significantly improved ability to diagnose and treat them. The incorporation of health professional and patient organisations in EULAR has been a considerable stimulus for these advances. Today, EULAR is a true umbrella organisation, covering almost 90 scientific societies, patient and health professional associations, and almost every year we welcome new member associations.

Therefore, the EULAR Congress 2014 in Paris will once again provide a wide range of updated topics, including clinical, translational and basic science together with optimised processes for the diagnosis and general management of rheumatic patients. In addition, there will be the always well attended sessions and events organised by our patient organisation PARE, by our Health Professional branch and by other health care providers. The central activity of the Congress will be the Poster Sessions and the active poster tours with their highly interactive exchange between poster presenters and participants. Thus, the Paris meeting will further strengthen the reputation of the EULAR Congress as a highly innovative and informative event for all interested in the cause of rheumatic and musculoskeletal diseases RMD.

The city of Paris needs little introduction and will guarantee a fascinating location as it always has in the past. Paris is an excellent city for an international meeting such as the EULAR Congress thanks to the efficient connections and transportation options. The "charme de la ville lumière" with its long history, reflected by its architecture, galleries, restaurants, theatres and music should provide an excellent atmosphere for cultural exchange, international collaboration and the renewal of friendships.

We look forward to having the honour and pleasure to welcome you: medical doctors, patients, health professionals and representatives of the pharmaceutical industry to the 15th Annual EULAR Congress and hope your stay in Paris will be enjoyable, informative, and educational.

Travelling to Paris
Because of its geographical location, Paris - the gateway to Europe - guarantees optimal accessibility thanks to its consistently reliable network of transport infrastructures (air, rail and road).

By air: with 14’000 flights a week, Paris’ air transport hub is the largest in mainland Europe, serving more than 557 cities in 132 countries. Low-cost airline companies have developed widely in just a few years. 78 cities in more than 30 countries are linked to Paris by these companies. Paris has 4 airports, including 2 international airports, Paris-Charles de Gaulle and Paris Orly.

By train: at the heart of the European rail network Paris can be reached by means of an excellent rail network, which takes travellers to one of the six railway stations situated right in the heart of the city and offering smooth connections with the public transport network.

The principal Paris rail stations broadly serve the following international cities and regions:

- Gare de Lyon: TGV to South of France and Italy, Lyria to East of France and Switzerland

- Gare de l’Est: TGV East to Strasbourg, Frankfurt, Stuttgart or Munich

- Gare du Nord: Thalys to Brussels, Amsterdam, Rotterdam and Eurostar to London

From the airports to the city center

Paris-Charles de Gaulle airport/CDG

23 km North of Paris by the A1 motorway

(estimated journey time – all means of transport: 45-60 min.):

By shuttle bus:
- Air France coaches Line 2 (CDG to Porte Maillot): every day from 05:45 to 23:00, every 30 minutes
- Air France coaches Line 4 (CDG/Gare de Lyon/Gare Montparnasse): every day from 06:00 to 23:00, every 30 minutes
- Roissybus (CDG to Paris-Opéra): Every day from 05:45 to 23:00, every 15 to 20 minutes (every 30 minutes from 22:00 to 23:00)

By train (airport shuttle & RER B):
- Free airport shuttles departures every day, every 5 to 8 minutes, to RER stations
- RER B departures, every day from 04:56 to 23:56, every 4 to 15 minutes

By taxi: between EUR 40.00 and EUR 60.00.

Paris-Orly airport

14 km South of Paris by the A6 motorway

(estimated journey time – all means of transport: 30-35 min.):

By shuttle bus:
- Air France coaches: Line 1 (Orly/Gare Montparnasse/Invalides/Etoile): every day from 06:00 to 23:30, every 20-30 minutes
Getting Around in Paris

Paris' compactness makes walking around it a pleasure, though cyclists can be hampered by heavy city centre traffic. Public transport, run by RATP (Régie Autonome de Transports Parisiens), is cost-effective and efficient and includes Métro trains, buses, trams, RER trains and Vélib’ (Paris bikes).

Métro: fast and inexpensive; travel on the Métro is one of the best ways to get around Paris. Trains on the 15 lines run from 05:30 to midnight. A Paris métro map plus a journey planner tool is available.

RER trains: there are four RER suburban train lines which are best used for longer distance journeys across Paris.

Bus: many of the 60 bus routes go through the tourist areas of Paris. Buses operate from Monday to Saturday from 07:00 to around 20:30. Stamp your ticket onboard. Night buses (‘Noctambus’) operate across 18 lines from 01:00 to 05:30, running into the suburbs. The Balabus circuits along major Paris tourist attractions including the Bastille, Louvre, Musée d’Orsay, Champs-Elysées and Charles de Gaulle-Etoile on Sundays and national holidays through summer months.

Taxis: taxis can be hailed in the street, though there are plentiful taxi ranks. Rates are measured in the city centre by kilometre, with higher rates after 19:00 and on Sundays. A fee is charged for each piece of baggage.

Car: with limited parking spaces and a high volume of traffic, driving a car in Paris is challenging, though useful for visiting the charming, quieter outlying regions and towns near the capital.
Facts about Paris and France

For more than a quarter of a century, Paris has been the trade-show, convention and congress capital of the world. This leadership position is a just reward for the city’s ongoing commitment to improving the hospitality it extends to its visitors, particularly business professionals.

Paris is easily accessible from anywhere. It boasts a first-rate infrastructure, with numerous functional business facilities, a choice of new and continually refurbished hotels unlike any other in the world, and a comprehensive rail and urban transport network. Add to this the Vélib’ public bicycle service for a two-wheeled tour of the city...

Paris is also, first and foremost, a city with an exceptional architectural, cultural and historical heritage. An heritage that is alive and constantly being reinvented. World capital of fashion, shopping and dining, Paris is in essence the place to go for combining business with pleasure.

As the world’s leading city for tourism, Paris is conscious of its high profile and takes advantage of this to assert its values in the area of sustainable development, values which it has made commitments to through Agenda 21 and a Climate Plan.

The Paris Region is the world’s leading tourist destination. Visits to monuments and museums, strolls through the city’s streets and cruises on the Seine: Paris’s illustrious heritage is an everyday, everywhere experience. World capital of fashion, shopping and dining, Paris is always on the move.

For many visitors, Paris is a museum city. Although the number of museums is considerable, most of the buildings that line the streets are – contrary to appearances! – Parisians homes.

The city’s superb architectural heritage, comprising some 1’800 listed buildings, is such that visitors are easily mistaken as to a building’s function, particularly as this legacy is constantly growing, getting a makeover and diversifying. The Banks of Seine between Pont de Sully and Pont d’Iéna and their surroundings are part of UNESCO World Heritage Site.
Paris is also one of the most enjoyable places to live and work. 75% of its surface comprises parks, wooded areas, vast forests, and rural areas.

Fine dining, shopping and entertainment are an integral part of the city’s art de vivre. The French capital offers 16,000 shops, 212 theatres and 110 cinemas – the biggest choice in the world. Prominent figures from the worlds of art, culture, fashion, design and cuisine come together in the streets of Paris. Once or twice a week, shops and museums stay open until late in the evening, and when night falls and dinner has been savored, the bars, cabarets, discotheques, auditoriums and concert halls take the spotlight.

The global capital of gastronomy, Paris has more than 10,000 bars and restaurants, ranging from the traditional “brasserie” to the most exotic cuisine. Many restaurants also have meeting rooms, so business and gastronomic pleasure can be combined.

On the menu: Michelin star restaurants with top-class chefs, the new “fooding” stars who mix flavours from around the world with traditional cuisine, and small local restaurants offering innovative menus. According to the UK’s Restaurant magazine, 9 of the world’s 100 best restaurants are in Paris.
The Paris Region is a European center of excellence in training and education, with over 600'000 students, 17 universities and more than 350 higher education establishments. With its 143’800 researchers and technicians and more than 3% of regional GDP spent each year on Research and Development, it is not surprising that the Paris Île-de-France region has the highest R&D concentration in Europe. In addition to this, thanks to an exceptional network of infrastructure and facilities, it is the largest platform in Europe for hospital services and clinical tests.

Tourism & Handicap
In 2001, a nationwide program was launched to promote improved accessibility for people with a physical or mental disability, or visual or hearing impairment. The “Tourism & Handicap” label aims to provide reliable information on access to sites and on the facilities that are available for this target group with specific needs. As part of the program, Paris City Council made the Paris Convention and Visitors Bureau one of the key contact points. More than 200 sites are currently labelled “Tourism & Handicap” in the Paris Region (complete list on www.parisinfo.com).

Banks
The most current foreign currencies (in cash or traveller checks) can be exchanged at most hotel cashier stations, and at any available bank. Banking hours vary according to the bank used but the most common are:
- Monday - Friday  08:00 – 14:00
- Saturday        09:00 – 13:00
- Sunday          closed

Climate
The weather in Paris in June is usually warm and sunny with daily temperatures ranging from 20°C to 25°C. Night temperatures may be cooler between 12°C to 16°C.

Currency
The French currency is the Euro (1 Euro = 100 cents).
Shopping
Department stores and most shops are open from:
Monday - Friday  9:00/10:00 – 20:00
Saturday  10:00 – 21:00
Sunday  some shopping centres are open
All over the world, when people think Paris, they think fashion. More shops than you can imagine will tempt you with their offer of the best in clothes, shoes, accessories and much more.

Credit cards
Major credit cards (Visa, American Express, Eurocard/Master-card, Diners Club) are accepted in most hotels, restaurants and shops.

Insurance and liability
It is recommended that participants obtain adequate cover for travel, health and accident insurance before they depart from their countries. EULAR and MCI as organisers cannot accept responsibility for personal injuries, or loss of, or damage to, private property belonging to the congress participants.

Electricity
The standard voltage in France is 220 volts. Most hotels provide 110-vlt outlets for shavers.

Taxi
Paris’s taxis are one way of getting around in the city, although the meter ticks away alarmingly when you are stuck in the rush hour traffic. You can share the front seat with the driver if you wish. There is an initial charge of EUR 2.50 when starting the journey. After that, the charge is depending on the distance, with a slightly higher rate per kilometre if leaving the city limits. Give the driver a rounded up sum in payment. A few taxis accept cards, but this is the exception rather than the rule. It is advisable to always have enough cash handy.
Facts about Paris and France

Telephones
For calls to France, use the international code +33. The regional code for Paris is 01. Calls from France follow international standard dialing rules.

Time
France follows Central European Time (CET) which is GMT +1 hour in winter and GMT + 2 in summer.

Tipping
You are not expected to tip on top of restaurant service charges but you can leave a little extra if you feel service warrants it. If there is no service charge, the customer should consider leaving a 10% tip, but this is not obligatory. Tipping taxi drivers is not common practice, but you are expected to tip the porter at top-end hotels.

Visas
You do NOT need a visa for France for business, personal visits or tourism if you are:
  • a citizen of an EU country
  • a citizen of Norway, Switzerland, Iceland
  • from a country listed on the Foreign Ministry list
  • not staying more than 90 days
In this case, a passport or ID Card valid for the duration of your stay is sufficient.
For more detailed information, please visit:
If you should need a visa, please apply early enough to allow sufficient handling time to the authorities. You may ask the EULAR Organising Secretariat for an official letter of invitation (proof of registration required).

I would like to change the perception of rheumatoid arthritis and increase public awareness. It is associated with the elderly, but it is a disease that can happen to anyone at any age. I'm grateful for the therapies that are available now to help sufferers live their lives as best they can.

Alison

UCB has a passionate, long-term commitment to finding more effective treatments for several specific diseases in the central nervous system and immunology disorders. Our challenge is to help patients and families living with the physical and social burden of severe diseases. It holds out the promise of a new generation of therapies that will enable them to enjoy more normal, everyday lives.
